

Hello parents and staff,

NCStar is a software program used throughout the state to direct School Improvement Teams in accessing their particular needs, planning action, and creating change within their schools. As part of the School Improvement Team, we chosen to focus on a selection of the 104 indicators of success to track Jordan High School's particular needs and continue to strengthen our community.

As a part of our community you have the right to review our comprehensive plan as it develops. Provided below is the login information that will allow you to review our plan and the progress towards completing the action steps necessary to actualize that plan. In addition, several suggestions for how to access helpful reports have been included. The NCStar comprehensive plan is a living and breathing document, and can be altered according to the goals and feedback of the School Improvement Team, the faculty, or our Parent Teacher Student Association.

In order to access our NCStar page, follow this link to indistar.org.

You may access the page through this guest username and password:

On the dashboard you can review a variety of analytics, but the most helpful information can be found on the Reports/Wiseways/Rubrics tab, where you can open several different reports to measure our progress. The Comprehensive Plan Report provides a full-length multi-year School Improvement Plan as it currently stands. This contains all the indicators of success that we have chosen to pursue, have already completed, or currently working to develop. Under each indicator you can review its initial assessment, plans for full implementation, the leadership team member assigned to complete action steps, and the target date for completion.

You can find more information on each of the indicators and how they are meant to work on the Resources tab. In addition you can further research how these indicators can be practically met by reading the coordinating WiseWays article found on the NCStar help webpage.
